

Today I Come To Remind Ya...It's Time To Sing A Love Song.

I remember a long, long time ago when everything was green and blue with yellow stars that lit the way and red sunsets that looked as good as wild berries tasted. It brings a smile to a very old man's smooth face. Not like today - old men are full of wrinkles..not then. Air was clean and water clear and bodies were strong and went on for a long time. You gotta love the thought of that...a long time ago when this Island of yours was one big heart shining. I called a girl that once..big heart shining...but I don't know if she remembers. Don't matter really, these days I call myself Grandfather Dragonfly. I could call myself anything I want, it's the love glowing from inside my heart that is my real name...same as you. Some things like that don't change - other things do. Like Mother Earth...she ain't got the same colours anymore, but I'll tell you...she's getting ready to sing a song like you never heard before...she's getting ready to show you colours you'll hardly believe are true. That's good. You need a good surprise.

One of these days yer gonna get it right..and when you do Mother Earth's gonna be so happy, she'll show you then. I was born a patient man...but I'm tellin you, I've been waiting a long time for people to paddle their own canoes and bless the water as they're doing it. I've been waiting for the big light to shine inside. I see a lot of people waking up...and that means good things are coming. I said I wanted to talk today to remind you that it don't matter if anybody likes ya - what matters is you like yourself. What matters is you remember the ways of the old chiefs and do good for everything around you. That means no fightin' - just cause you can fight doesn't mean yer strong..old chiefs didn't fight, they got along. People started fighting when they got weak - it's easy to fight and hurt others, but you gotta be strong to live in balance, to hold integrity and truth within. I remember when the old chiefs use to gather and share what they knew with each other. A long time later I seen a lot of selfish people grabbing for stuff they don't need. Trouble is - stuff - don't do you much good in the long run. That's why we used to give stuff away

- good stuff too. That cleared your space so you could love better. Some of ya think love is just a crazy thing - if that's true, then I'm startin' my own crazy club! If you think Love is a sign of weakness, well yer in for a big surprise when you see the new wave come in and I don't mean water. I mean it's the people who love the most who are coming into power. That's good too, cause they are the strong ones. It won't do you no good to lift heavy things if you don't bless those things for helping you and bless every bone in your own body in gratitude. Some of you heard stories that the times were coming when Mother Earth would take back her power - that scared you. Don't need to be scared. Cause right in the center core of Mother Earth is loving kindness - so you don't got nothin' to worry about with Mother. You might have to worry about some two leggeds trying to use Mother as their excuse for their own bad behaviour. I'd say don't worry about that either - if enough of you would just love those guys anyway, their power would fall away. I know about that, once upon a time I got angry and tried to cause trouble...but it wasn't much fun. It made me hurt inside...then one day I could feel people loving me even when I didn't deserve it...they were loving me, for no reason! They weren't big - but they were the most powerful people I ever saw, and still are...and I remembered the old chiefs and I was sorry and that was good. I asked forgiveness and said I didn't want to cause trouble anymore...if you been thinking about that - I'm telling you it's real easy once you decide. It will make your heart soar. You know, even old chiefs get off track sometimes - but a Wise One listens to the reminders and fixes things. That's where the joke comes in - nothin' scares you when yer in your honest place...that's why you're so strong. Things will change quick when there's enough of you saying you're sorry with a big heart shining. Cause Hearts are bright when you ask forgiveness, and they're brighter when you give it. Yup, Mothers wakin up all right!

That makes me smile and I'm only talking now because I Love Ya, and todays a good day to sing a Love Song.