

Oh Dearly Beloveds and we say these words with such truth - even though we know some of you don't resonate with them, perhaps because you do not comprehend the intention. But the reality is, we must speak true to our own word or our communication to you would be inaccurate would it not? And the truth is, we do love you dearly and DO hold your precious humanness close to our heart. Soon enough, in these times of accelerated light, you will become more comfortable with others addressing you in a loving manner. You see there are no strings attached to our love for you. It simply IS just as you simply ARE,

could come in various formats such as through sound, light and colour, or the vibrations of the crystalline kingdom or sitting in the purity of 'Love Without Compromise'. There are a few of your two-legged friends capable of assisting you to give yourself a forward surge at this time, just as you will also be able to assist others once you are comfortable with the resonance of your new Divine Self. We say "a few" now, because those numbers will significantly increase after the Great Gateways of Nov. 8-13 have activated more of those around the world who choose to play together.

The rapid changes in your world have some of your heads spinning and feeling dizzy in your own company and feeling overwhelmed and anxious. Some are wondering how this can be when you were supposed to be so excited. You thought the new times were meant to be joyful and easy...and indeed they ARE. HOWEVER...

There may be a bit of a learning curve for some of you, while it appears that others jumped on board with eyes sparkling - truly inspired with this peaceful reality. It is a good time to remember that the 'timing' of your new overhaul will be dependent upon what you still have on your agenda that is attached to the old way. It truly is a time of releasing old clutter in the physical, spiritual and emotional realms and at the same time, TRUSTING yourself to be competent to embrace the new. It is not a time to compare yourself to others or judge another's path in any manner - because each one of you is on your own personal journey and must proceed in your own way. Whichever way you choose, you will still need to release the patterns and concepts of the past that do not serve you.

But let us reassure you, if you are hesitating to embrace your new golden beautiful self because of your caution of the unknown, there is nothing to fear here. Dear 'friends from forever', you were born for this moment and you are already equipped with everything you need to step into it. The confusion within you very well may stem from the reality that the shift into this new way requires an energetic realignment of sorts. There are energetic-alerts that have gone off within you during 2013 - bells and whistles and lights-a-blazing, and if you were not prepared for the 'announcements' you may very well be feeling overwhelmed.

Yes it is still meant to be easy and yes it will be for you also but it may well be that your physical body needs some assistance. Some may need to experience something that would give a clear message as to what the feeling of aligning with the new Codes of Creation is like. That help

And indeed we do mean play, for this is the MOST exciting and precious and astounding time on Planet Earth EVER. It is important you keep this at the forefront of your consciousness and do not let it drift into the background. Your energetic influence will be the highest it has ever been during that time for your own acceleration and that of the whole. This is a very personal opportunity the Nov. 8-13 Gateway brings to you to lift yourself beyond the norm to see and feel with a new vision what the transcendent reality is all about. It is, however, your choice to accept the gifts presenting themselves before you.

It is an unprecedented time to come together as a unit physically because as a unit you will be able to bypass much of the 'work' that you would normally need to process if you were to do this on your own. That is part of the secret of cooperating TOGETHER. Oh what a concept for those of you who are used to going-it-alone! However, together, standing tall as unique individuals, you have an opportunity to truly change the world. How to start? Remove yourself from low-level conversations and attune yourself with your own Divine Spark of Light. Turn off the constant negative chatter of your television's vibration and your transition will be speedy and wondrous just as you've imagined. Embrace the company of other like-minded individuals as these are the times when you were meant to reconnect with multitudes of your sacred families.

We salute the ALL of who you are today. We look forward to co-creating with you in the days to come, as the bridge between Heaven and Earth shortens and Love becomes the new language of all. Love you we do.
